Britain Ready To Reject Moscow Parley "Peace Deal"

Britain Rejects In Advance Any Moscow 'Deal'

Will Accept No "Peace Deal" Framed By German Foreign Minister

BRITISH PREPARED FOR ANNOUNCEMENT

Expect Hitler To Seek To Stun Allies With New Peace Proposals

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The British government today flatly rejected in advance any "peace deal" framed in Moscow by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Suspecting that the object of his second visit to the Soviet capital in four weeks is aimed at solidifying the Russo-German agreement by military implementation and at "freezing" or frightening the Balkan and Baltic states into pro-German and pro-Russian neutrality, authoritative British sources have known their attitude ever before Von Ribbentrop had landed in Moscow.

No Hitler Formula
Great Britain, it was said, will accept no formula that leaves Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler master of Germany, and as such able to consolidate the gains he has already made in preparation for an assault upon his next victim, whoever it might be.

The British are fully prepared for the announcement of some resounding and perhaps astounding Hitlerian diplomatic surprise as a result of Von Ribbentrop's visit.

They are fully reeling that Hitler may attempt to stun the allies into agreeing to any kind of peace by putting forward a "now you can't win" argument.

Answer Will Be "No"

Their answer will be the less will be a thunderous "No." All the potentialities and ramifications of Von Ribbentrop's visit, including the

One of the Pa New family, home from the fair, says the line of huge steamships in dock at New York present a sad and somber spectacle. The Aquitania, Queen Mary and all except the Conte de Savoia were painted a dull gray. Groups of silent people stood watching from the piers as a few workmen moved around aboard several of the liners. It was a depressing sight and much in contrast to the hurry and gaiety usually prevalent at a ship's haven.

Artillery Fire Marks West Front Activity

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Swinging to the east to a point midway between the Saarland and Lauterbourg, German artillery today subjected the French Maginot line to a test of deadly fire below Wissembourg.

French communiques No. 47 announced: "The night was calm. There was firing by the enemy's artillery in the region south of Wissembourg."

The Germans are pounding with their artillery for the same reason that the French are feinting with their infantry—to feel out or blast out weak spots in the enemy lines of fortifications.

Germany's "big berthas" were pointed yesterday to the area just below Zweibruecken—to which the French are now applying the translated name of Deux Points. Firing today was directed some 15 miles closer to the Rhine frontier.

Sally Repulsed
Considerable significance was attached by observers to last night's communique, which said: "there was activity by enemy artillery south of Zweibruecken and south of Pirmasens. At dawn a sally was repulsed on the Lauter front."

The Germans, it was stated, tried a counter-attack before Bergzabern in an attempt to push back French advance posts. French troops, after nearly four weeks of careful prob-

Skirmishing Starts In Neutrality Battle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Open skirmishing started in the congressional neutrality battle today.

Outnumbered senate foes of President Roosevelt's cash-and-carry bill repealing the neutrality law arms embargo boldly challenged powerful administration forces to conflict. Laying the charge "broad executive discretion" against the New Deal bill, the little bi-partisan opposition band dauntlessly set out to wean the measure of heavy senate support.

Time, oratory and letters from constituents, proclaimed the opposition, will surely bring strength to the coalition solidly bound on this issue—no repeal. The 56 "sure

Legion Plans For Resolution On Neutrality

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A resolution demanding strict American neutrality in the European war, but stepping the issue raised by President Roosevelt's proposed repeal of the arms embargo, was considered for adoption today by the American Legion national convention.

The resolution, which also demands that congress shall remain continuously in session "during the present grave crisis" and that the armed forces of the nation be expanded immediately, was adopted unanimously last night by the legion's foreign relations committee.

It was presented to the entire convention today for consideration.

Ray Murphy, past national commander of Ida Grove, Ia., chairman of the foreign relations committee, said the resolution was "more than just a formal resolution."

"It will be, if adopted by the convention, an American Legion pronouncement on the neutrality problem," he said.

The resolution placed squarely upon the shoulders of President Roosevelt and congress the responsibility for keeping the United States at peace and out of all European wars.

PLANT NOT USED SINCE WAR PERIOD

New Owner Silent On Possible Use To Be Made Of Site In Future

Confirmation was made this afternoon by S. D. Factor, of Pittsburgh, that a deal has been consummated for the purchase of the Pullman Company property on Mahoning avenue, better known to New Castle residents as the old Standard Steel Car property.

What final disposition would be made of the site would not be stated by Mr. Factor, although he announced that the steel building had been acquired by the Copperweld Steel Company, of Glassport, Pa., which concern plans to move to the structure either to Warren, O., or Glassport, Pa.

The Copperweld company recently purchased a factory site with buildings in Warren, O., which is in addition to the plant where they are now located in Glassport. Decision is to be made today by officers of the Copperweld Company as to whether they will remain in Glassport, or move the plant to Warren, O. The building purchased through Mr. Factor from the Pullman company will be moved to whichever site is decided upon, it is stated.

The old car plant here has been idle for around 20 years, and the buildings have been unused for that period of time. They have fallen into disrepair.

Germany Claims New Successes In Attack By Planes

High Command Says Planes Make Attack On British Warships In North Sea

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—Overwhelming successes by German war planes in raids on British warships in the North Sea, including the alleged destruction of another British aircraft carrier, were claimed by the German high command today.

(Editor's Note: Reports of a violent battle in the North Sea reached Copenhagen yesterday, but were later found to have resulted from harmless practice maneuvers by the Norwegian navy.)

A communique issued by the German high command stated that in addition to the aircraft carrier being destroyed, one British battleship was struck several times in direct hits by German bombs.

(The British aircraft carrier Courageous was torpedoed and sunk with a loss of more than 500 lives soon after outbreak of hostilities.)

Warsaw Siege Of Twenty-One Days Is Ended

Berlin Official Announcement Says Warsaw Has Surrendered

CAPITULATION AFTER TERRIFIC ATTACKS

Stand Made By Polish Defenders Of Warsaw Has Few Rivals In History

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—After 21 days of siege, Warsaw has surrendered, it was officially announced in Berlin this afternoon.

The military commandant of Warsaw, the Berlin announcement said, finally offered to capitulate to end the ceaseless bombardment of the former Polish capital.

General Von Blaskowitz, commander of German occupational troops in central Poland, was authorized by the high command to negotiate the surrender.

The final capitulation of Warsaw after holding out for three weeks in a demonstration of courage and heroism that has few parallels came as no surprise.

City Badly Wrecked

It was announced in Berlin yesterday that the army's patience had become exhausted by the continued civilian resistance of the city. Inasmuch as Warsaw had sacrificed its privileges as an open city and converted itself into a fortress, the German high command announced, there remained no alternative but to open upon it without mercy.

The last broadcast from the Warsaw radio announcer, which reached the world a short while after the Germans had launched their final attack, told how "the last 24 hours have been far more terrible than anything we have yet endured."

Fleets of 200 German war planes subjected the city to constant bombardment, the announcer said, charging that incendiary bombs had been dropped, setting most of the public buildings in the city aflame. The city, he revealed, was reduced to a virtual shambles. Casualties, human and animal, were rendered beyond computation.

State Will Wage War On Sabotage

Industries Will Be Well Guarded

State Police To Cooperate Fully With F. B. I. In Watching Situation

RECALL EPISODES DURING 1914-1918

By RAYMOND WILCOVE International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—The state is prepared to take adequate steps to guard Pennsylvania industries, including those engaged in making war materials, against possible sabotage such as that committed during the European war, Commissioner Lynn G. Adams of the Pennsylvania motor police warned today.

Colonel Adams said his police force was ready to swing into action against saboteurs, spies or violators of American neutrality at the first sign of illegal activities.

Colonel Adams' warning came in the wake of a request for aid sent out by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to law enforcement agencies and to the public in general, asking assistance in apprehending unlawful activities growing out of the European war.

State Police Ready
The state police commissioner, recalling the bombings and burnings of manufacturing establishments, docks, railroads and other business enterprises in the state during 1914-18, said the state police required no additional legislation or authority with which to combat subversive activities.

"Sabotage," said Colonel Adams, "is a violation of state law and will be dealt with as such."

Colonel Adams warned that such unlawful activities by any organization might leave them open to prosecution under the drastic state sedition law which provides for punishments ranging up to 20 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

To Watch Organizations
The German-American bund and established groups of communists were cited by Adams as organizations whose activities would be scrutinized zealously by the state constabulary.

On subversive activities not covered by state law, such as espionage and other violations of the nation's neutrality law, the state police was prepared to give federal authorities its fullest cooperation, Colonel Adams emphasized.

Information leading to the arrest of spies and other violators of American neutrality would be turned over to federal authorities, said Colonel Adams, and state authorities would give the government their aid in squelching such activities.

Colonel Adams added that no cases of sabotage, espionage or other violation of the neutrality law had yet come to his attention.

Mindful of what occurred during the last war, however, the state police was prepared to take necessary action whenever the occasion warranted.

status of Turkey and the Dardanelles, the possible partition of Rumania, the increasing likelihood of Soviet encroachment upon the Baltic states and even the chance of a Russo-German-Italian deal in the Balkans have been canvassed in detail.

The answer still is "No." So far as the British are concerned, some satisfaction is gleaned from the belief that on this visit, Von Ribbentrop may be forced to bargain as Germany has never bargained before since Hitler came to power.

In the case of the non-aggression pact with which Germany and Russia started the world a month ago, Von Ribbentrop merely put the seal on a deal consummated long before by Berlin and Moscow.

Now, the British believe, he will have to give much for what Germany gets in exchange. The British press gleefully picked up the remark of one neutral diplomat in Berlin referring to Von Ribbentrop as "the new Herr Hacha." Emil Hacha was the ill-starred president of Czechoslovakia who was summoned to Berlin by Hitler and forced to sign over Bohemia and Moravia to Nazism.

New Castle-Harbor road to the village of Pulaski. This road seems to have a pretty good base, but it is full of little pointed stones that stick up like the quills on a porcupine and are mighty hard on automobile tires.

Among the customs which change is that of the reading habit. It is not so many years ago that Lawrence county folks were pretty well satisfied with weekly papers. There were some half dozen of them published in the county. Now there is only one, the New Wilmington Globe, which still continues to give the local news, as well as considerable general news. New Castle once had three daily newspapers, but now it has only one, The News, which circulates throughout the county in the field once covered by weeklies. It is the habit now for people in the country districts to look for the evening paper as eagerly as they once looked for the weeklies.

There must be something in the theory that the human race is gradually getting smarter. Not so many years ago it took three paragraphs on a label of a can of sardines to tell the customer how to open it. Nowadays, with a new design every week, there is hardly a manufacturer who doesn't leave it to the customer to decide whether he should bite it open or use a crowbar.

Pa Newc has found that there is considerable difference of opinion locally over the proposed neutrality act. But public opinion, despite its tremendous power, is subject to constant change. Sometimes it develops over a long period of time. Often in changes quite rapidly. Consequently, the opinion which now prevails is not necessarily that which will prevail tomorrow. In the main, however, public opinion is fairly stable on great issues.

Cunningham Park is not the only place where garbage is being dumped. There are a number of places in the city about which residents in the neighborhood are complaining. It is possible that there are hundreds of citizens who do not know where they are allowed to throw tin cans and other rubbish. It might be well for the city to make known the official dumps, so that our citizens may not be tempted to violate the law.

Back in 1915 Raymond Zeigler of Mars, Pa., caught a land turtle and carved his initials and date on the shell. The other day Mr. Zeigler was called by a neighbor, Bert Gice, to see a turtle he had caught. On examining it Mr. Zeigler found that it was the same turtle on which he had carved his initials 24 years ago. Strange to say, the turtle was very little larger than it was in 1915, which goes to show that land turtles are very slow growers.

In the past limestone has been a very valuable asset to Lawrence county. It has been used in our earlier furnaces, later in the more modern furnaces, in our cement, brick and other plants. Notwithstanding the vast quantities used, there are still a number of virgin deposits in the county. Some of these, particularly in Plain Township, are far removed from railroads. There are big deposits in Scott, Hickory, Slippery Rock, Taylor, Shenango, Mahoning and other townships that have never been worked. There is plenty of limestone left in the county for future generations.

It will be but a short time now until New Castle begins to hear more about the government's decennial census in 1940. Appointment of a census supervisor for this area and the selection of his aides should be in the news one of these days, according to information out of Washington.

Ohio towns along Route 224, the route which joins 422 at Parktown Corners in Union township, sent representatives to Akron today to form a permanent boosters' association for Route 224. The Akron Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the rally at Akron.

SKIRMISHING ON NEUTRALITY STARTS

votes" claimed for cash-and-carry by the administration, they predicted, will certainly dwindle.

Opening Move
Senator Clark (D) Missouri, a leader in the no-repeal faction, made an opening move with disclosure of an English army officer's writings suggesting that the United States cancel British and French war debts. Clark said the cash-and-carry bill encouraged such ideas. The English officer, Maj. Gen. Sir Leonard Rogers, proposed in one of his letters that the United States, after cancelling old war debts, extend new credits to Britain and France, repayable after the present war and without interest.

Senator Nye (R) North Dakota, another no-repealer, charged the bill places America economically at the front with the allies in the European war now in progress.

First Step
"That," he added, "is the first step towards active participation in the conflict. A clear exposition of this issue, plus a reasonable time, and the voters of the country will take care of the congressional lineup against repeal of the arms embargo. This is a tough fight, but by no means a hopeless one for the forces opposing repeal of the arms embargo. I believe we will win."

Chairman Pittman, of the senate foreign relations committee handling neutrality, will go on the air tonight with a vigorous appeal for the cash-and-carry neutrality bill. His talk will signal the start of a bitter neutrality debate over the air running nightly until next week and ringing in nearly a score of senators.

Radio Debate
A number of outstanding figures outside congress will participate in the radio debate, but apparently high ranking government officials are staying out of the active fighting. This was evidenced today by a letter received from Secretary of State Hull by Senator Vandenberg (R) Michigan. He had requested Hull's opinion of the cash-and-carry bill. Although Hull has assured Pittman that the bill is satisfactory to him as drafted, he wrote Vandenberg that the legislation was "now in the hands of the legislative branch, in whose ability to solve the problem I have complete confidence."

Senator Borah (R) Idaho, leader of the no-repeal faction, may go on the air again Thursday night. He spoke on neutrality about ten days ago.

To Urge Cash-and-Carry
Senator Schwellenbach (D) Washington, will talk for the administration proposal Friday night. Saturday night Senator Minton (D) Indiana, speaking for cash-and-carry, will debate on the radio with Senator Nye. The same evening Senator Burke (D) Nebraska, normally opposed to the Roosevelt forces but in this fight with them, will go on at 10:30 p. m. to be followed by senator Bridges (R) New Hampshire, taking the opposite side.

Sunday night a six-man radio debate will hold forth, with Senators Pittman, Connally (D) Texas and Assistant Senate Republican Leader Austin, of Vermont, supporting cash-and-carry, and Senators Nye, Clark and Danaher (R) Connecticut, demanding retention of the arms embargo.

Smith To Speak
Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, will speak on a national hookup in favor of the administration bill.

Senator Norris (R) Nebraska, who voted against American entry into the World War, will present the closing argument for the bill Tuesday.

The senate foreign relations committee meets tomorrow to begin consideration of the bill. Pittman hopes to get a report by Saturday permitting debate to get underway Monday.

Best estimates available from both sides today predicted a senate battle of three weeks as a minimum and four or five as a maximum.

Deaths of the Day

McCown Funeral Thursday

Funeral services for Roy B. McCown, well known late resident of 1042 Maryland avenue, will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Third United Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, in charge. Interment will be in Mt. Jackson U. P. cemetery.

Mr. McCown, aged 56 years, died of a sudden heart attack at about noon Tuesday in his home. He was for 14 years a resident of New Castle and the rest of his years were passed in Little Beaver township, where he was born, son of D. Leasure and Claudia Crill McCown.

He was a faithful member of the Third United Presbyterian church and the session, and taught the Wise Eagle Bible class. He was a man highly regarded in the community and news of his death was received with sorrow.

Surviving are two sons, Willard D. of Bradford, and J. Edgar, at home; one grandson, Robert L. of Bradford; his mother, Mrs. Claudia McCown; one sister, Mrs. Clara Anderson, of Enon Valley, and the following brothers, William C. of Akron, O.; Charles A., of East Palestine, O.; C. Glenn, of Miami, Fla., and W. Guy, of Wampum.

He lost by death his wife, Ruth Dunnan McCown, and a son, Wayne, both in 1936.

Curtis Anderson Funeral.

Many friends and relatives gathered Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 404 Bell avenue to pay their last respects to Curtis M. Anderson, a beloved old resident of this city and surrounding community.

Rev. William Gamble was in charge of the services and gave a touching sermon in tribute to Mr. Anderson.

The numerous floral offerings were further token of the high esteem in which Mr. Anderson was held in this community.

Pallbearers were members of the Carpenters and Joiners Union of America No. 206, of which Mr. Anderson had been a faithful member: S. A. McKee, James Brandon, Hile Otto, H. M. Jamison, Curtis Bowers and Ralph Young.

Interment was made in Grace-land cemetery.

Isaiah Ingle.

Isaiah Ingle, aged 74 years, died at 3 a. m. in his home, 624 Arlington avenue, after an illness of several days. His wife, Elizabeth Wells Ingle, died six months and ten days ago.

Mr. Ingle was born in Staffordshire, Eng., on June 19, 1865, and came to New Castle 48 years ago. He was a retired tin worker.

Surviving are two sons, Samuel and George, two daughters, Mrs. Eliza J. Roberts and Mrs. Sarah Nichols, of this city, and eleven grandchildren.

The body is at the David M. Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street; the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Andrew Barone.

Andrew Barone, 63, died at his home, Mercer R. D. 6, Tuesday night at 9:15 o'clock, the result of complications.

He was born in Italy on March 22, 1876, son of James and Angela Pelino Barone, and came to the States 35 years ago. He was a coal miner by trade, and was a member of the Beloved Disciple church of Grove City.

His wife, Domenica Serico Barone, the following children, James, Mrs. Jennie Ross and Mrs. Rose Gaspare, of Grove City, John and Florence, at home, and one sister, Mrs. Grazia Serico of Italy, survive.

High mass of requiem will be celebrated Friday at 9 a. m. in Beloved Disciple church, Grove City, by Rev. Fr. Andrew C. Quirt. Interment will be in Halvill cemetery.

ing and pincer movements on a small scale, have reached the actual redoubts of the solid German west wall, it was understood in Paris.

In making their sally, the Germans used planes, artillery, and light tanks. Overwhelming fire by automatic rifles, anti-tank guns, machine guns, and small field artillery beat back the Germans so quickly they were not even able to reach the French outposts, it was learned.

Germany's repeated counterattacks in the last few days were taken as admission that the French have advanced up to the main Limes, or Siegfried, line.

Intense Germany artillery fire, plus sorties which the French described as "desperate," were linked to the same situation.

French quarters asserted the German high command is developing fears that French heavy artillery, which has been hammering the line from Zweibruecken via Pirmasens to Bergzabern, will find a weak spot or force a break in the hastily-constructed German fortifications.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM

Heralding the approach of autumn are the various announcements carried daily concerning opening sessions of different club groups.

Perhaps the one interesting of the largest number of women is that of the Woman's club with a membership of around 350. As this year will mark the 50th anniversary of the club, a special observance of the important event will take place next Monday, October 2, at the New Castle Field Club. The hour is 1:00 o'clock.

Arrangements are in charge of the new program committee, Mrs. William A. Margraf, chairman, Mrs. W. Keith McAlfee, Mrs. J. Glenn Berry. Reservations in charge of Mrs. Berry. The important event will take place next Monday, October 2, at the New Castle Field Club. The hour is 1:00 o'clock.

The occasion will honor past president, honorary and charter members. In addition to these at the speakers' table there will be several out of town state officers. These include Mrs. John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh, former president Pennsylvania State Federation; Mrs. John K. Ambrose of Beaver, president Southwestern District; Mrs. Paul Howe, of Beaver, state chairman Department of Public Welfare.

Featuring the program will be a talk by Mrs. Phillips and remarks by the others. There will be music by Mrs. James M. Rugh and Mrs. Paul A. Welsh accompanist. A brief history of club work during the past half century will be given by Mrs. William Wilson, former club historian.

Theta Rho Girls

Theta Rho Girls will hold their regular business meeting and election on Friday evening in their usual place at seven o'clock, which is a change in time. A dance will follow routine affairs.

ELTEKON CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL FORMAL DINNER

In keeping with their annual custom, members of the Eltekon class of the First M. E. church, gathered at a tea room in New Wilmington on Tuesday evening, for a formal dinner party.

The occasion, one of the loveliest and most enjoyable ever undertaken, was in charge of Mrs. R. S. Marquis. At the chosen hour, the group gathered around the large table where a full course dinner menu was served. Presiding as toastmaster, Harry Lockley handled the program most capably and after short talks by C. W. Irwin, teacher of the class, and Michael Bowden, president, the time was spent socially.

On Tuesday, October 31, the group will meet for their regular session.

DAMES OF MALTA TUESDAY ASSEMBLY

Dames of Malta held an excellent meeting Tuesday night in their assembly rooms at Malta hall, with a large attendance witnessing an initiation ceremony. Miss Betty Gray presided.

Upon the completion of business routine the group heard Deputy Gertrude Blackmore of Sharon give an inspiring address. She told of the grand sessions held recently in Reading. Election of officers followed, with the results to be issued in the account of their installation, which is scheduled to take place in two weeks.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS OF INTEREST HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Shaffer, of 412 Loberg avenue, North Bradwood, Pa., former residents of New Castle, and Brilliant, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary H. Shaffer, to Raymond L. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Porter, of Cadiz, O.

The couple plan a late fall wedding.

MUSIC CLUB PROGRAM IS PRESENTED TUESDAY

Tuesday evening at the Highland U. P. church Mrs. J. Norman Martin reviewed the history of the New Castle Music club as a prelude to the first meeting of the season. Mrs. Martin is the only charter member of the Music club, which was originally the Wednesday Morning Musical club. She brought out many interesting points in her delectably informal review.

The program was presented by the past presidents of the club. Mrs. Paris Shoaff opened the program with Sibellus' "Romance" after which Mrs. Jay L. Reed offered "Rondo Capriccioso" by Mendelssohn. Mrs. William J. Caldwell presented three vocal numbers, one of which was a composition by Miss Gladys Rich, a former president and local resident. Mrs. Marshall Matheny pleased with a reading, "The Moonlight Sonata," with Mrs. Richard K. Allen interweaving a musical background. Miss Barbara Shultz then played the brilliant Liszt transcription of Verdi's "Rigoletti".

Mrs. Robert Fleming, Mrs. Marshall Matheny and Mrs. William J. Caldwell presented a group of vocal trios. The final number, "The Gypsy Suite," by Greig, was played by Mrs. Paul Welsh and Mrs. D. Duff Scott. Mrs. R. K. Allen was the accompanist for the evening.

Hostess for this lovely program was Mrs. H. L. Gordon, and it was followed by a tea and social period, with Mrs. James Moorehead in charge. Ushers for the evening were Mrs. E. Kaplan, Mrs. R. K. Allen, Mrs. Ben Agnew and Mrs. Clifford Propst.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTAS HAVE FIRST MEETING

Mrs. Bart Richards, Mrs. Robert Hoose and Mrs. Robert Weingartner were associate hostesses to members of the Alpha Gamma Deltas when they had their first meeting of the fall season in the former's East Washington street home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Weingartner had charge of the routine meeting, after which bridge was played, with Mrs. Orville Brown winning the prize. A delicious luncheon was served at the close of play by the hostesses.

A new member, Mrs. Jane Hogan, of Columbia, Mo., who attended the University of St. Louis, was welcomed into the group.

Next meeting will be the last Tuesday of October in the home of Mrs. Joseph McPate, Sumner avenue, with Mrs. L. Owens and Mrs. Hogan as associate hostesses.

FIELD CLUB STAG PLANNED TONIGHT

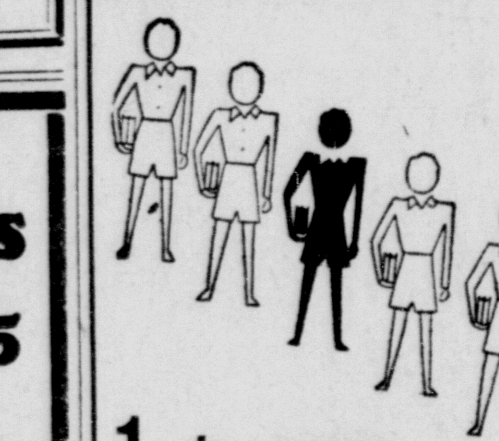

Jesse Gibson will be host at the men's stag party this evening at 8:30, to be held at the Field club. A program has been arranged for the evening.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD AT L. T. A. CLUB MEETING

At the meeting of the L. T. A. club, Tuesday night, which took place in the home of Mrs. Charles McCormick on Croton avenue, the approaching marriage of Margaret McCormick, Highland Heights and Ralph Brooks of Edison avenue, was revealed, taking the assemblage by complete surprise.

The wedding ceremony will be celebrated, September 29. Preceding this feature however, a program of contests held attention, with prizes going to Mrs. S. J. Callahan and Margaret McCormick. Every member was present to share activities, and one out of town guest, Mrs. Lawrence Watson of Mars, Pa.

Refreshments were served at the close with Mrs. Jane Porter aiding the hostess.

LUTHERAN WOMEN HAVE TUREN DINNER

A tureen dinner was enjoyed by the Women's Missionary society in St. John's Lutheran church Tuesday at 6:30 p. m., with Mrs. John Baer, Mrs. Alice Claple and Mrs. William Mitchell as hostesses, and Mrs. Charles Burchart, Mrs. Robert Drake, Mrs. Henry Brudin and Mrs. Bertha Higgins as guests.

Mrs. William Emery, devotional leader, has for her topic, "The Church School and Missions." An opinion test, "Is it True?" was an interesting feature, in charge of Miss Mary Riffer.

Delegates to two conventions were elected, as follows: to the 21st annual convention of Pittsburgh Synod in the First church of Apollo, October 11 and 12, Mrs. A. J. Gaylor and Mrs. Emory Wolf, delegates. Mrs. J. W. Trent and Mrs. Lee Lutz, alternates; and to the fall convention of women and young women, of West Conference, October 18 in Trinity church of Ellwood City, Miss Stella Dieffenderfer and Mrs. John Baer, legates and Mrs. Alice Claple and Mrs. Charles Rick, alternates.

In October the society will meet in the home of Mrs. Charles Drake, 413 Martin street.

CHURCH DEPARTMENTS WILL HAVE PARTIES

On Friday afternoon, from two until four o'clock, members of the Cradle Roll department, Highland U. P. church, will have their annual party at the church. Miss Ethel Moore is superintendent of this department.

From two until four o'clock on Saturday afternoon the Beginners' department will have their annual party for the graduating classes, at the church. Mrs. C. G. Lindner is superintendent.

The superintendents will be assisted by the teachers of their departments at these parties.

1914 BOOK MEMBERS TO GATHER FRIDAY

Mrs. W. H. Gillespie of New Wilmington will repete the 1914 Book club members in her home Friday for their regular social session and exchange of books.

The Gadabouts

Mrs. William Dunlap entertained in her home on Court street, the Gadabouts club, with tables of 500 providing the pastime. Prizes fell to Carol Ransom and Mrs. Ada Perry. In serving a dainty lunch, the hostess was aided by her sister, Sara Jane Jenkins.

The next meeting will occur on October 9, with Mrs. Ruth Wallace, 618 South Ray street, hostess.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLASS HAS DINNER

Twentieth Century Bible class of the First Presbyterian church met in the church dining room Tuesday evening for the annual fall tureen dinner. There were about 50 members and guests present, and ample justice was done to the many good things prepared.

After dinner the president, Mrs. Alice McKillop, took charge. Mrs. C. N. Moore led devotions. Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Jones sang a duet accompanied by Miss Olive Webb and Miss Helen Leslie sang a group of numbers accompanied by Mrs. J. McVain. Reports were heard from chairmen of different committees and the class treasurer, Mrs. Robert McBurney, acting chairman of the social committee, called on Mrs. McVain, Mrs. A. A. Webb, Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser and Mrs. F. G. Simonton, who gave short talks concerning their summer vacation trips.

Mrs. Simonton's talk was on what a person can see in a day's journey from New Castle and the many interesting places to visit in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. A. B. Street described a narcotic institution she visited which can be viewed only by permit. There were six thousand keys to the building.

Hostesses for the affair last evening were: Mrs. E. A. DeLan, Mrs. George Ramsey, Mrs. W. G. Forrest, Mrs. W. A. Stone, Mrs. A. A. Webb, Mrs. Angie Wilson, Mrs. F. R. Woods and Mrs. John Park.

FIRST METHODIST LADIES ASSEMBLE

Miss Adaline Marshall of Hazelcroft avenue received ladies of the First Methodist Queen Esther Auxiliary in her home Tuesday evening. The group, in charge of Group No. 1, headed by Mrs. Oscar Sheaffer and Mrs. George Knox, was opened by the new president, Miss Alma Locke. Plans for the year were made. The organization will follow a program outlined by the central office.

Miss Marshall invited the members to the dining room where a lovely buffet lunch was served.

It was a very pleasant evening for everyone, and Miss Marshall's home was a cheerful setting with a profusion of bright garden flowers throughout. The next meeting will be in October at Mrs. Ray Robinson's, 22 East Grant street.

SHARE HONORS AT SHOWER ON TUESDAY

Mrs. Nick Padula, nee Mary Cio, and Mrs. Harold Gill, nee Lillian Moran, shared honors at a lovely shower which took place in the home of the former, on Beckford street, Tuesday evening when a group of guests assembled for an informal time.

The honorees were well remembred with gifts, which were discovered by instructions given each and written in verse, which took them to various corners of the house.

During the game period which followed prizes fell to Clara Lytle and Olga Roman. Lunch was a later pleasure served in the dining room at a table cleverly appointed in the shower theme.

Both honorees are brides of recent date.

DORCAS CLASS GROUP HAS FALL GATHERING

Dorcas class of the First Congregational church was entertained on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Roy Nelson, who was hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Davies on Electric street.

Following a business session, games were enjoyed, prizes going to Hannah Richards, Cecelia Hughes and Mrs. Joseph Leyde.

At a late hour the guests enjoyed a bountiful menu. Assisting the hostess in serving were Miss Melvina Davies and Mrs. Louis Davies. Tuesday, October 31, Miss Elizabeth Reese will be hostess at a Hal-lowe'en party at her home on East Long avenue.

Sigma Delta Chi

Members of the Sigma Delta Chi group gathered in the home of Miss Betty Bloomer, Hillcrest avenue, on Tuesday evening, when plans were made for a special event to take place on October 2 and for their party, to be held October 9 in the home of Joan Thompson, Euclid avenue. Sallie Wilson will be co-hostess at this event.

Afterwards, a pleasant informal period was enjoyed and a tasty lunch was served by the hostess, aided by her mother, Mrs. Harry Bloomer.

Farewell Party

Tuesday evening, a number of friends gathered at the home of Miss Carrie Christie, in the Dean block, for a farewell party in her honor.

Cards were the diversion of the evening. Later a hamburger fry luncheon was served by Miss Doris Parks, and Miss Wilda Spark.

The honored guest was presented with a lovely gift.

Miss Christie will soon leave for Sharon, where she will make her future home.

O. B. A. Plans Party

Associates of the O. B. A. class of the Third United Presbyterian church gathered in the home of Mrs. Manley R. Bates, Beckford street, Tuesday evening. Co-hostesses were Annabelle Morganti and Mrs. Mary Ellen Jessel.

Plans were discussed for a Hal-lowe'en party to be held on October 31. Two new members, Esther Nowak and Sadie Robinson, were welcomed into the class.

At an appointed hour the hostess served a delicious lunch, assisted by her daughter, Charline Bates.

Buono Tempo Club

Celebrating their second anniversary, members of the Buono Tempo club enjoyed a theatre party on Tuesday evening.

Following the group attended a tearoom, where dainty refreshments were served.

On October 5, Mrs. Thomas Magliery will entertain the club at a downtown tearoom.

MISS EMMA SEWALL HONORED AT SHOWER

Misses Sophia Buchner and Lillian Dietterle were co-hostesses to a group of guests in the home of the latter, Airey Acres, on the New Wilmington road, Tuesday evening when they entertained in honor of Miss Emma Sewall, bride-elect of October 9, who will marry Arthur Stright, of Oil City.

The occasion was in the form of a miscellaneous shower and bridge. Those winning prizes were Betty Ramsey for card honors, while in other games, Eleanor Morris carried off the prize.

At a suitable time all gathered about the fireplace, when the honoree was presented with a collection of many beautiful and serviceable gifts, for her future home.

Lunch was served afterwards by the hostesses, with Mrs. E. Sewall, Mrs. H. Buchner and Mrs. A. C. Dietterle, aiding.

BESSEMER WOMAN'S CLUB OPENS SEASON

Members of the Women's club of Bessemer gathered for their first meeting of the fall season, on Tuesday evening, in the Bessemer Presbyterian church, with the new president, Mrs. G. E. Nord, presiding.

The garden group of the club, arranged a lovely display of flowers throughout the room, with prizes for the best arrangements and displays being awarded to Mrs. Ivan Henderson, Eleanor Throop and Mrs. Paul Hobbs. Judges for the occasion were Mrs. Frank Krause and Mrs. Curry of Ellwood City, who also gave interesting talks on fall gardening.

Mrs. Frank Beale, city chairman, outlined projects that will be taken up later by the club. A solo was rendered by Fran Chadock, at the conclusion of the program.

At a suitable hour the social committee served lunch. The group will meet again on October 31, in the church.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOW TO MAKE ARITHMETIC EASIER

As most teachers and parents know, many a child having trouble with arithmetic in the intermediate grades still counts when he sees such combinations as eight plus five, or 16 minus seven. And they know that so long as he continues to count his trouble persists. I explained how this habit usually begins, how it is cultivated by the very way in which the child is taught in the early stages of addition and subtraction, and what may be done to correct it. Today I shall endeavor to show how this counting habit may easily be prevented.

Far more parents than teachers will agree with me. But parents should remember that it is not within our province to tell the teacher what to do. And while I write not only as parent, but also as teacher and scientific investigator, I would advise the teacher to avoid conflict with her principal or supervisor. Even if you, as teacher, agree with my advice, so long as you are instructed to do otherwise by your "boss," do so by all means until he or she is converted. It's the only professional and practical procedure. Anyway, I might be wrong, even though I have maintained and written this point of view for 15 years.

Plan Is Simple

Here is my simple plan: As you begin the child at home or school on numbers, give him abundant experiences at counting and writing the number symbols first to 20 and later to 100; also of learning roughly the relative magnitudes of these numbers as more or less, without his ascertaining how many more or less. Then give the child abundant experience with objects and sequences whereby he learns that two numbers together make a larger number. But do not keep him at this activity with a view to having him learn any of the addition or subtraction combinations. Purposely shift from one to another so he might not learn any of these combinations in this manner. Let him learn by counting, for example, that by putting together four and seven, he gets a number bigger than either four or seven. When you are ready to teach him addition, present first those combinations which do not easily lend themselves to counting, such as six and seven and 13, and have him learn these mechanically. It is well to present them in pairs, for learning economy.

Next present such as five and eight and 13, in the column form. Then eight and five and 13. Two pairs at a period may be enough. Then make up little story problems in which these facts are used, but don't present the problem before the fact involved has been learned. Do not present such combinations as one and one, two and one, three and two, until practically all the larger combinations have been learned.

Freud now belongs to history in which he will be evaluated accurately by constantly expanding horizons of mind study so ably expedited by him.

FOUNDER OF PSYCHOANALYSIS

Sigmund Freud entered the realm of psychology when it was almost exclusively an academic study of man's mental processes. Doctor Freud, dead in Hempstead, England, at the age of 83, won international fame by his works on psychoanalysis and studies in related subjects. He was driven from his home in Vienna, his property confiscated by Hitler.

Freud's death leaves unanswered many questions and problems which his groping into the mental and physical inter-relations of mankind helped to clarify. He was a pioneer in an all-important phase of living, and he has stimulated persons the world over to careful introspection and better self-understanding.

Freud set the world to talking glibly of complexes, inhibitions, frustrations, conscious evolution and fixations. His teachings were not for every person to comprehend, even to hear, and there is no doubt that whether through half-knowledge of what he was trying to teach, or through following his pseudo-apostles, many persons have a perverted idea of the Freudian credo.

Freud now belongs to history in which he will be evaluated accurately by constantly expanding horizons of mind study so ably expedited by him.

WALKING NOW ORGANIZED SPORT

Walking, which was once the means of getting from one place to another, became chiefly a means of exercise when mechanical transportation arrived. Now, according to a writer in Hygieia, it has become one of the "most popular organized sports."

There are said to be today 150,000 Americans organized in at least 200 hiking clubs and about 200,000 more "free lance" hikers. These figures probably take no note of Boy and Girl Scout groups and others for whom hiking is just one of various activities.

There are always rules for organized sport, and walking is not neglected. In the first place, says the authority, the walker needs to be in the right mood. "Hiking grimly and doggedly is an utter waste of time and effort." It produces neither pleasure nor health. It is unwise to overdo by walking too fast and likewise to "undergo" by walking slowly or for too short a distance.

Hiking, like other sports, calls for suitable clothing—comfortable shoes, woolen hose, and light porous garments.

No doubt the organized hiker covers a given number of miles in a day or a year. What an unconverted saunterer wants to know is whether the hiker enjoys the landscape and the weather, whether he hears any birds or notes any strange messes under foot.

THE SELECTIVE MIND

"We don't see all we look at. We don't observe all we see. We don't study all we observe. We don't digest all we study."

The words, by Galett Burgess in the Nation's Business, can be set to music that every man hears.

When they make a journey most people travel to little point. They talk but they don't ask questions. They look but they don't see. Like the little girl in the Abbe Dimmet's "Art of Thinking." When she had stared out to sea for several minutes her nurse called to her to come along. "What could she be looking at so long?" And her answer was, "Nurse, you look where I look but you don't see what I see."

The ordinary traveler stores up no clear-cut impressions in his mind. No notes are made. In a few months this wonderful journey to far places becomes but a blur in the memory. Asked about his travels he is as blank as the sailor who could remember nothing about Australia but the price of potatoes.

When it comes to reading, only a comparatively small minority seek anything except amusement. Of these, but a select few ponder what they read, run it through their own mental mill and refine it to a residue that will nourish their individual lives. The good reader knows what to discard. He remembers that which is important to him and forgets the rest as quickly as possible.

If you wish to know a man's prejudices, ask him what injustices and humiliations he endured in youth.

Yet there are dreary days when we suspect that maybe the nicest people are unfair when they have the power to be.

Yet old timers can remember when you could tell what a man believed in if you knew which party he belonged to.

To test men, need their help. The big one is compassionate and tactful; the little one is overbearing and arrogant.

A point is raised in the Ohio press, that the gas mask would have drawbacks in regions where chewing tobacco is socially de rigueur.

War is the great leveler, and the knotty problem of what to call Wally, the Duchess of Windsor, will no doubt be resolved in favor of "Toots."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:50. Sun rises tomorrow 5:53.

Keeping the ships of the United States out of danger zones is not a bad idea. This will also keep some reckless people in the place they should be—at home.

"Do you mean to say that she cut his acquaintance?" asked a judge examining a witness in court. "It was worse than that," replied the witness. "She cut his throat."

PURSUIT

A boy once chased a butterfly; It led him far away. He ran till he was out of breath. Until the twilight gray. His hands were torn with briars. And his weary legs were sore— And when he caught the fluttering thing He valued it no more.

A man once chased a dollar. And he ran with might and main. Unmoved by other pleasures. And indifferent to pain. And when the glittering fortune in His grasp quite safely lay. He said, "I'll turn philanthropist. And give it all away."

GENTLE HINT

The new tenant in the apartment house was engaged in hanging pictures and drove a large nail into the wall for a mirror support. The driving made quite a noise. A minute later the man from the next apartment came over.

Chief Rain-in-the-Face considered himself a progressive Indian, so when a settler told him that feathers were comfortable to sleep on he decided to give the idea a fair trial. Procuring a nice shiny crow feather, he put it on the ground and lay down on it for a night's rest. In the morning he awoke, tired and stiff and very much displeased. He arose and said: "White man heap liar. Feather no good bed."

If you use advertising in the same way that Rain-in-the-Face used feathers, you will get the same results. If advertising is to produce good results it must be taken steadily, persistently and in large quantities—just like feathers.

What's What At A Glance

Germany Hopes For Democracy
People At Large Are Anti-Nazi
Third Term Question Discussed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. IS GERMANY pro-Hitler? Would Adolf win in an honestly conducted election? Nobody can tell, of course. But I have some family connections in the Fatherland and I've tried to find out from them, personally. If they're there at this time, naturally they don't tell. But I've seen several of them on visits to this country. Since they've intended to go back, it goes without saying that they've expressed themselves only in the faintest whispers.

The consensus I get, though, is this: With the war on, the Germans want to win. At this juncture they wouldn't dump Der Fuehrer. In the long run, however, the German bulk appears to be anti-Naziistic. It wants to get back, ultimately to democracy. It harks into a past when young Germans immigrated into the United States to escape universal military conscription.

Some of our best liberals, like Senator Carl Schurz were of that era. And some of our rip-snorting radicals, like Governor John Peter Altgeld of Illinois but even Altgeld wasn't a Nazi; he was an exaggerated Democrat.

The dope I get is that today's Germany is the old-time article. It's muzzled but only temporarily.

In the last war we had a censorship.

Said Robbie Burns of censorship: "Here's freedom for him who would read."

"Here's freedom who would write."

"There's none ever feared that the truth should be heard."

"Same them that the truth would indict."

Let 'em fulminate. I'd say. Let 'em indict 'emself.

Third Term Question

In a recent column, I indicated my belief that present conditions hint at a third term for President Roosevelt. One of my readers out in Iowa, replies:

"How can it be argued that in America a should abolish essential traditions merely because of war, hysterical war sentiment or because the president at the time happens to be obligated by his office and authority to protect America, so far as possible, from becoming involved in war?"

Especially what my correspondent (R. F. Clough of Mason City, Ia.) is afraid of is a third Roosevelt. For he is from me to boost for a third presidential term.

But I do think that a third term is hinted at by the present war situation.

It isn't a question of what's desirable, it's a question of what's likely to happen.

Overwhelming Sentiment

"I see no reason," says my correspondent, "for adjournment of what I believe to be the overwhelming sentiment of the American people against a third term for Mr. Roosevelt or any other president of the United States."

"I should hope that newspaper writers would think this thing through and not lend themselves to the type of political propaganda indicated by the conclusion of your article—'which was to the effect that our tendency is warward.'"

Mine isn't, believe me. I'm a pacifist. I was so considered in the last war. But not this time. I'm anti-Hitler.

The Campbells are, as everyone knows, a Scottish Clan, very proud of their record in Scottish politics and Scottish wars. Their head is the Duke of Argyll, and the Argyllshires are a proud band of warriors who have always given a good account of themselves in every war in which England has been involved.

Louise Campbell is a well-known actress, who has taken many parts in Moving Pictures. Some time ago she received from a group of the Campbell Clan in Glasgow an ancient tartan plaid, which once belonged to the Duke of Argyll.

As the Campbell's only representative on the Screen, they said in their letter accompanying the gift that they wished her to have it for she was considered by them, "a perfect representative of Scottish womanhood."

Regretfully, Louise repacked the tartan and sent it back to Glasgow. Her real name happens to be Weissbecker.

The Great Game Of Politics

Job For Mr. Byrnes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. THE actual leader of the Administration forces in the Senate in the fight to revise the so-called Neutrality Act is Senator James Francis Byrnes, of South Carolina. Of course, Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, is the official leader. He holds the title, but the real White House reliance is not on "Dear Alben"—it is on "Jimmie."

THAT is a fortunate thing for those who believe it vital the Roosevelt-Hull proposals should prevail. While it is true that as of today a Senate majority favors lifting the embargo, it by no means is certain there will be such a majority a month and more hence when the vote is taken. Majorities in Congress have a way of yielding under pressure and being dissolved in debate. A torrent of protesting letters and telegrams, which by no means can all be attributed either to Father Coughlin, Mr. Hearst or the Bund, has been pouring into Washington in the last few days. The feeling is that this sort of pressure will increase as the argument proceeds. In addition, there are reasons, directly connected with Mr. Roosevelt personally, which operate against the course he advocates.

OBSERVERS here, aware of these things, agree that the more Mr. Byrnes is leaned upon and the less the conspicuous New Deal Senators are featured, the greater the chance of the present majority being held together. The plain fact is that Mr. Roosevelt's closest friends in the Senate—the ultra New Dealers who support him on every proposition, the loudest champions of his domestic policies, and his most extravagant eulogists—neither by their personalities nor their performance have endeared themselves to their colleagues nor acquired prestige among them. On the contrary, it is entirely accurate to say that the three regarded as most devoted to the President have less than no influence whatever. They automatically create antagonism to the things they commend. They invariably damage their own causes by the method of their espousal.

THIS is unquestionably true of Senator Pepper, of Florida; Senator Minton, of Indiana, and Senator Guffey, of Pennsylvania. Closer to the President than any others, these three would run neck and neck at the top in any Senate unpopularity contest. Among not only Republicans but the anti-New Deal Democrats there is intense distaste for them, amounting in some cases to profound contempt. Nor is this surprising when the violent attacks they have made in the Senate upon those who dissent from the New Deal religion are recalled and their general disposition of ascribing to themselves a monopoly of virtue and wisdom is considered. The character of their trades in the Senate, of two of these Senators—Pepper and Guffey—the kind of castigation at the hands of Democratic Senators few men have experienced. Last session, for example, Mr. Pepper, in effect, was called a liar and a coward to his face on the Senate floor, by Senator George, of Georgia. And two years ago Senator Guffey was verbally cut to pieces by Senator Wheeler, of Montana.

Clearly, Mr. Roosevelt cannot win this fight without the votes of anti-New Deal Democrats. It will be very much more difficult for them to support him if the Messrs. Pepper, Minton and Guffey push to the front as Administration spokesmen. There is no such personal feeling against Mr. Barkley. He is not, it is true, either smart, effective or inspiring as a leader. He is inept and bungling, but not actively disliked. On the other hand, Senator Byrnes, besides being one of the most popular men in the Senate, is amiable, astute, experienced and respected. He has been a supporter of this Administration, but not a slavish supporter. He has shown real independence of the White House, and yet, singularly, has retained the Roosevelt friendship. Personally, he is much closer to Mr. Garner, Mr. Glass and Mr. Harrison than to the New Dealers. At bottom he is "their kind of a fellow" and has little in common with the Pepper-Minton type.

Receive No Orders To Boost Strength Of Guard Troop

Troop K Is At Peace Time
Strength, Officers State
Today

Although orders have been received by other units in the Pennsylvania National Guard, particularly the infantry regiments, no orders have been received by Troop K, 103rd Cavalry, to increase the size of the troop.

The present peace time strength of the troop is 65 men and three officers, and the troop is recruited to capacity, officers of the troop here stated today. It has been rumored that the size of the troop may be increased to 85 men, but no official confirmation of this has as yet been intimated, it is said.

Federal inspection of the troop will take place on December 8, according to word just received by the troop. This is the earliest date that Federal inspection has occurred in some time. The troop is now getting ready for this occasion, and are drilling diligently each day evening, with machine gun platoon drill taking place on Wednesday evenings.

Couple Spend Fifty Years In Same Farm Home

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Sept. 27.—Fifty years ago, E. E. Grace took his bride to their new home in Worth Township, north of here, following a marriage ceremony at the home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramsey, of adjoining Pine Township.

Monday, friends and relatives were gathered at the home to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Grace's golden wedding anniversary. They have lived on the same farm continuously since their marriage on Sept. 25, 1889.

In those 50 years, Mr. Grace has never missed a day taking care of his stock and doing the farm chores. His wife broke her hip last May, but prior to that time she had always done her own housework.

Milk Producers To Meet In Court House

At a meeting to be held in the court house Friday night, September 29, at 8 o'clock, the Keystone Milk Producers' Association, composed of milk producers of the district will again discuss the possibilities of an adjustment in the price of milk to the producer.

Sometime ago the association succeeded in getting an adjustment in the price of class one milk. They now want the price of milk used for milk products brought up in order that the farmer may get a fair average price for all his milk.

'Cash And Carry' Plan Is Favored

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—In the belief that the "cash and carry" provision would act as a deterrent to American involvement in the European war, Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, today had taken his place with advocates of the repeal of the arms embargo provision of the neutrality law.

Girdler declared there was evident a "determined will" on the part of a great majority of Americans to stay out of war and asserted the steel industry preferred making steel for purposes of peace rather than war.

STREET RAILWAY ACCIDENTS FEWER

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—Thirty fewer street railway accidents were reported to the Public Utility Commission last July than in the corresponding month of 1938, when 217 were reported.

Two persons were killed, both being non-trespassers. Non-trespassers are persons having business on the company's property but are not passengers or employees. The total injured numbered 246, five were employees, 167 passengers, five trespassers and 69 non-trespassers.

We laid a Flock of Millions on the line!

THERE ARE 5 SERIES,
22 MODELS IN THE
1940 BUICK LINE. PICK
OUT YOURS AND GO!

In every 1940 Buick you get the skilled engineering and sturdy quality traditional to Buick—enriched by all the extra value which General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide

No, you couldn't do what we wanted to do, and do it cheap.

You couldn't set out to top the field, focusing on how much you could put in rather than take out—and with accustomed equipment keep costs down.

You couldn't micro-balance engines, heavy-up frames and running gear, strengthen bodies, enrich upholstery and fittings, improve performance, better the value per inch, per pound and per dollar—and do it with last year's methods.

So we faced it, re-tooled and renewed our vast modern plant all over again—put eight million new dollars on the line; the Buick line for 1940.

What did we get for it? Rather ask, what do you get? Listen.

You get a big beautiful brawny car styled to knock your eye out—the fashion pattern for them all next year, just look around and see.

You get a car that positively glitters in its brilliance of action, modern as television in the wondrous way it does things.

You get a marvelously engineered chassis, keeled like a battleship with its torque-tube backbone.

You get for your command that surging, soaring, millrace power of the matchless Dynaflex engine, now electrically balanced after assembly to micropoised perfection!

len into a condition of disrepair in the meantime, although engineers state that the framework of the building is still in good condition.

Idle Many Years
In recent years practically all the machinery in the buildings had been removed and sold, and the steel rails taken up in the sidings around the plant.

When rumors began to be received that the Copperweld Steel Company was interested in the possible purchase of the site or buildings here, an effort was instituted by the Greater New Castle Association and other local interests to have the company consider New Castle as a possible location for their industry, as there is an abundance of electric power available, with the recent completion of the large power plant at West Pittsburgh, and the company uses electric furnaces in their processes, it is stated. Whether this effort will bear any fruit remains to be seen. Final decision is to be made tonight by the Copperweld company, S. E. Bramer, president and general manager of the company informed The News today.

Whether any other concern is interested in the site would not be stated today by Mr. Factor, who refused to make any comment on what the land would be used for, stating that he would rather not discuss that phase of the matter.

There are 24.6 acres of ground included in the property with a large steel frame building, and several small brick structures.

EAST SIDE UNION
The East Side W. C. T. U. met in the Y. L. B. class room of the Third U. P. church. Mrs. Rhoda Dombagh had charge of the devotion and read the 37th Psalm. Assisting in the worship program were Mrs. J. A. Wilson and Mrs. Abe Kildoo.
Mrs. McLure conducted the business meeting. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Mattie Badger; vice president, Mrs. Rhoda Dombagh; secretary, Mrs. B. H. Craig; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Rupert. The social committee served lunch.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY
Scotland Union met in the home of Miss Elizabeth Taylor and enjoyed an unusually fine program which opened with musical numbers by Mrs. Charlotte Emery and Miss Webber. Miss Taylor gave a talk on "The Overflowing Cup" which was very inspiring.
A 50th anniversary observance was in charge of Mrs. S. L. Wilson and included the reading of the minutes of the first meeting, (50 years ago.) by Mrs. J. D. Pattison, and the calling of the roll of that meeting, by Mrs. W. W. Wallace.
Ladies who were members 50 years ago, including Mrs. Jennie Offutt, Mrs. James Hasely, Mrs. Lucy Cox, Mrs. Agnes Moore and Mrs. Nannie Shallenberger, gave interesting reminiscences. Mrs. Belle McCombs gave a short talk. Another 50 year member, Mrs. Elva Davis, lives in California and was not present. Mrs. Mary Pattison, 45 years a member, gave a talk.
Miss Margaret Lowry gave a toast to the oldest members and an interesting discourse on the old ways and the new. She presented each of the older members with a golden rose and little books of Bible verses beautifully engraved. A memorial service was held in memory of those who have passed on.
Mrs. W. G. Wilkins, county president, gave a short talk on "Looking to the Future," which was very well received.
As each member entered, she was presented with an autograph book in the shape of a bow of white ribbon edged in gold. The Taylor home was beautifully decorated with flowers and a white and gold color scheme. The hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by Mrs. J. D. Pushing Work On Local Projects

About Dozen Improvements In City To Be Completed Before Bad Weather

Almost a dozen city-WPA projects are under way here and it is hoped that most of them will have been completed before cold weather sets in. The workers are drawn from the WPA rolls.

The jobs under way follow:
Excavating, preparatory to paving in Elizabeth street east and west of Highland avenue. Curbs are being placed east of Highland and excavation is almost finished west of Highland avenue.
Ameliorating of Hillcrest avenue east of Delaware avenue.
Placing of stone in Garfield avenue between Delaware avenue and Neshannock boulevard.
Placing of stone in Summer avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues.
Construction of a storm sewer in Etna street between Smithfield street and Atlantic avenue.
Work will soon get under way in Waldo street which is to be excavated, curbed and paved between Belmont avenue and Grimes street.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENT
Since work was started a few weeks ago on the township community house, Jackson street, much progress has been made. A new cement floor, all new window panes, a new entrance and other necessary improvements to make it a well made and good appearing building will be an asset to the community. The pump has also been fixed.
Tuesday evening a number of local men were busy with the repairing of the electric lights. Plans are under way to secure a heating stove, which will be a necessity for the winter months.

EDENBURG NOTES

Sukkoth Festival Begins Thursday

Feast Of Tabernacles Opens Sept. 28; Twilight Service In Temple Today

Sukkoth, the feast of tabernacles, the Jewish harvest festival, opens on the evening of September 28. It recalls the democratic principles inherent in Judaism. The custom of building booths of frame covered with leaves and twigs still obtains. These booths symbolize the equality of mankind. Humanity is one, and every human being a child of God. Originally a harvest festival, Sukkoth has become a celebration honoring the spiritual fruits in the field of life. It is observed eight days by Reform Jewry and nine days by Orthodox and Conservative. The first and last days are holidays marked by special services while the days between are semi-holidays.

Piddington Wins In Mercer County By Two Votes

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Sept. 27.—Two votes—a most uncomfortable margin to the political fraternity—gave George Piddington of Sharon the Republican nomination for county treasurer of Mercer county, the report of the September 12 primary count board showed today.
Piddington got 5,782 votes to the 5,780 polled by Clyde G. Scowden, of Mercer, present sheriff, the official check disclosed.
Sheriff Scowden refusing to announce what he plans to do, was known to be conferring with his attorneys today.

Splendid Interest In Klink Campaign

The evangelistic campaign which began at the First Pentecostal church, Pearson and Epworth streets, on Wednesday, September 20, is accompanied with growing interest. The house on Sunday evening was filled and although the weather was inclement last evening, yet the attendance was excellent.
Evangelist Klink spoke last evening on "World Conditions X-Rayed" and will continue along that line this evening speaking on the subject, "The Days of Noah and Our Day." Mr. Klink has spoken on prophetic subjects and his messages for the remainder of the campaign which closes Wednesday, October 4, will continue in this channel.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SOME CHILDREN DEVELOP SLOWLY

A few weeks ago in this column we discussed mentally retarded babies. We revealed how this retardation takes place for various reasons and is usually quite apparent before the child is a year old. As a result of these columns I have had so many letters from mothers that I think I must try to quiet some fears. I have letters from mothers of what must be normal babies, who because their babies are not as advanced in talking or creeping, or picking up things as the baby next door, are stricken by the fear that their children are mentally subnormal.

Well, this reaction may be quite natural on the part of mothers but it is also quite unnecessary. As a matter of fact, there aren't many cases of mental retardation, and when there is one it doesn't leave a watchful parent in doubt long. But there certainly is a great difference in the speed with which some children pick up things.

For instance in the case of the Quintuplets, we have always found that Marie is slower than her sisters. Yet when she does grasp a fact she retains it much better. She was longer learning to walk than her four sisters, yet today I think she is more active and sure-footed than any of them. Certainly she is the first to jump into some new game. She was slower in learning to talk, too, but she can hold her own with any of them in conversation today. I suppose we could have become panicky about her, but instead we were patient, for we knew what a handicap she had to overcome.

At birth a baby isn't much different from a vegetable, at least as far as mental development is concerned. His brain is small, his mind is blank. When he is hungry it is instinct that causes him to cry.

As time goes on the normal baby's experiences make impressions on his mind. He soon learns that when he hears a stir about him, someone moving near him, that it means his needs are likely to be satisfied. As a result one of his reactions is to stop crying when someone enters the room.

Soon after this his eyes begin to focus, and he can see, in a vague way, the body of his nurse or his mother. This is about the time he begins to follow moving objects with his eyes and his mother gleefully presumes that the baby recognizes her. The baby's eyes should begin to focus one month or six weeks after birth—certainly no longer than three months.

As the baby develops more cohesion in his movements he will begin to try to raise his head. At first the efforts will be pathetically weak, but as long as he is trying, we know he is making progress. But if the child reaches the age of three or four months and his head still lolls helplessly about on the pillow, we can begin to fear that there is some abnormality present.

As the child grows still older he will reach out to take hold of objects. If a child of four months of age shows no interest in a flashlight held near him, and if he doesn't try to reach for it then it is time a doctor looked him over carefully.

There are about 125 inmates in the county home at present, according to Welfare Director M. B. Hogue. The home has had a good garden during the past summer. Over 90 bushels of early potatoes were raised. The late crop has not yet been dug.

Expense account of Charles E. Patterson, candidate for coroner at the recent primary, has been filed at the county commissioner's office. It shows that he expended $70. Account of Charles Piper Byers, also a candidate for coroner, shows that he expended less than fifty dollars. Less than fifty was also spent by Alderman O. H. P. Green and Constable J. C. Kennedy on their campaigns in the third ward.

Hearings for certificates of public convenience, will be held before the Public Utility Commission at the court house on Friday, September 29. Among the applications are the following: Charles H. County Treasurer V. I. Mandich calls attention to the fact that Monday is the last day on which mercantile taxes can be paid, without penalty. Originally an order was sent out that all mercantile taxes, should be paid by September 1st. An extension of one month was granted, however, so that those who have not paid can still have a chance. The treasurer is compelled by law to place all accounts in the hands of alderman and Justices of the Peace after next Monday. There are quite a number who have not paid, probably through oversight, but costs will be added if the tax is not paid before next Monday.

over the trial list with attorneys yesterday and marked the cases that are for trial during the coming sessions of common pleas court. It was reported that the case of Caplan, Adm. against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is not yet ready, and so it was continued until a later date. It was also reported that there is a settlement pending in the case of McLennan and others against Rubenson and others, so that it is improbable that the case will come up for trial. The first case to be taken up at the session beginning October 9, will be that of Benedict against Vitale, an action in trespass.

W. O. Mooney and Samuel Mooney partners, trading as Mooney Bros., have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Louis A. Haus, to collect a bill of $484.75; in connection with work at the nurses' home at the New Castle hospital.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Doctor, I've got symptoms, what's the matter with me?" The patient can seldom offer much help in diagnosis.

His complaint has interfered with his work or pleasure. Pain is the chief symptom complained of by most patients.

It varies in severity, duration, character and location. Weakness and shortness of breath are other prime symptoms.

Fatigue, loss of weight, and fever are important, too.

Loss of weight may be attributed to many conditions.

People are often unaware that they have a fever. Symptoms usually precede physical or structural body changes.

By questioning and observing the doctor finds the cause. His role is interpretation of the symptomatology.

U. S. Increases Neutrality Patrol In Both Oceans

More Destroyers Now In Service

Recommission Destroyers In Record Time For Patrol Efforts

WILL WATCH SEA FOR 200 MILES OUT

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The navy announced today that its first reinforcements were ready for the neutrality line of steel which President Roosevelt ordered drawn across the Atlantic waters off the United States.

Prepared to provide this government with information on war activities as far as 200 miles at sea and to keep Europe's war from American shores, the navy will place six additional destroyers on the neutrality patrol.

Recommission Destroyers
In quick time, the first six of 116 decommissioned destroyers have been recommissioned and put into active service. Thirty-four more of the navy's armed greyhounds will be in readiness shortly.

Coincident with the navy activity, Stephen T. Early, secretary of the president, was asked at his press conference if there were any more official reports of foreign submarines being sighted off American shores. Early thought for a minute then replied:

"I don't want to talk about that." The additional destroyers were put into active duty as the Fox, Brooks, Kane, Hatfield, Gilmer and Dallas, all manned by intrepid destroyer crews accustomed to the small but fleet and effective warcraft. All are now at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Four More Ready
Advices to the navy indicated that four more of the old destroyer fleet are ready for service in west coast waters. They are the Gamble, Montgomery, Ramsay and Breese, all at the San Diego naval base.

The speed with which the navy is expanding the neutrality patrol, brought into sharp focus the frequent reports of alien submarines being sighted close to American shores. The president himself said last Friday that two foreign undersea fighting craft had been seen nearby by reliable observers—one off Boston and the other off Alaska.

With 42 new destroyers to be made ready at once for the neutrality patrol, another 74 will be recommissioned eventually. Some of these are in categories requiring considerable work to fit them for active duty.

Extend Neutrality Patrol
Naval circles in Washington foresaw the possibility of a further extension of the neutrality patrol as a result of the conference of American republics now underway at Panama City, Panama. This country may be called upon to guard other new world countries from possible violation of their neutrality, according to Panama dispatches.

The increased naval activity was evident on both the Pacific and the Atlantic. The navy planned reinforcement of the fleet's scouting forces in Hawaii and establishment of a permanent patrol-bomber squadron of 14 planes in the Philippines.

The navy said that the movement of additional warcraft to Hawaii—the Gibraltar of the Pacific—was designed only with "fleet efficiency" in mind. Diplomatic sources, however, indicated that the movement held important implications for Japan in the Far East.

The patrol-bomber squadron at the Philippines was described as a "neutrality patrol."

Don Cossacks Coming On Saturday, October 7

First of the winter series of the Metropolitan Concert Guild in New Castle will be the famed Don Cossacks, the "singing horsemen of the Steppes" which will be held in the George Washington Junior high school auditorium on Saturday night, October 7.

The organization is composed of former Cossacks in the Russian army who were imprisoned in the "Camp of Death" at Tselengir, near Constantinople after the defeat of General Wrangel's army by the Bolsheviks. In the group was Serge Jaroff, pint sized choirmaster. He organized the group into a chorus and since then has been touring the world.

The program to be presented here will consist of a group of church music numbers, the second group of haunting folk melodies, and the final group will be Cossack numbers.

Since 1923 the chorus has given over 4000 concerts in 180 leading cities of 27 European countries as well as the United States, Canada, Mexico, New Zealand, Australia and the Orient.

College Head Is Placed On Trial

Slippery Rock State Teachers College Officials On Trial At Butler

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 27.—The president of Slippery Rock State Teachers College and the institution's suspended bursar faced trial in Butler county quarter sessions court today on charges stemming from investigation of the college's management.

The defendants, Dr. Charles S. Miller, head of the school, and David V. Ketterer, the suspended bursar, were indicted by the September grand jury.

Miller was charged with misfeasance in office, while Ketterer was accused of fraudulent conversion, malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office. Together the men are charged with conspiracy as published officers to commit improper and unlawful acts.

Judge John H. Wilson was the presiding jurist for the trial.

District Attorney Lee C. McCandless was reported to be holding more than 300 potential witnesses in readiness, indicating the trial might continue past this week.

The case grew out of investigation conducted by the state police and the auditor general's office at Harrisburg.

AGED VETERINARY OF PITTSBURGH DIES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—Pittsburgh children and their pets lost a warm friend in the death of Dr. Nicholas Rectenwald, 95-year-old veterinary, who often exclaimed:

"I can't turn down a friend that has a sick animal, and I can't turn down a suffering animal either."

Before his retirement from practice he was city veterinarian for 12 years, during which time his most difficult task was pulling the tooth of a lion. Even after the beast had been securely tied and its jaws pried open with iron bars, Dr. Rectenwald experienced great difficulty before finally yanking the tooth with a pair of forceps.

He always considered 13 his lucky number because he was born on Friday the thirteenth and was the thirteenth child of the family.

Testimony Ends In Police Trial

Numerous Witnesses Testify As To Reputation Of Three Officers

PREACHER TESTIFIES ABOUT MEETINGS

Representative citizens of the city were called to the witness stand Tuesday afternoon in court room No. 1 to give the jury trying three city policemen some idea of the reputation the officers hold in the community. The three, Lieutenant Cecil Suber and Officers James Hagan and Walter Tewell, are on trial for assault and battery upon Henry Bell on May 27, 1939.

For Officer Hagan, the following character witnesses were called: Alderman James C. Brice, Frank Wallace, John McMullen, Charles Dunagan, Thomas Cunningham and John J. Maher. For Tewell the following were called: Ivor V. Davis, Maurice Markley, George Morrow, C. G. Snyder, Reuben Kennedy and William J. Lowery. For Suber the following were called: Dave Axe, Dr. M. J. McCann, Preston Flaherty, S. D. Pearson and Herb Samuels. Each one testified to the good reputation of the defendant and in each case the district attorney, John G. Lamoree, had no questions, admitting the reputation of the defendants.

Defense Rests

Ray Nolte was called and testified that he had been at one meeting called in behalf of Henry Bell but that he had spoken only from the standpoint of the American Federation of Labor's attitude toward the Negro, an organization of which Nolte is an officer.

Again the defense attempted to get into the case a printed document, this time a copy of the Daily Worker, a Communist publication. Again the court ruled it out, and defense rested at 3:25. Because of the lateness of the hour the arguments and charge of the jury were not held until today. Sometime today the verdict will likely be returned.

Ray Nolte was called and testified that he had been at one meeting called in behalf of Henry Bell but that he had spoken only from the standpoint of the American Federation of Labor's attitude toward the Negro, an organization of which Nolte is an officer.

Again the defense attempted to get into the case a printed document, this time a copy of the Daily Worker, a Communist publication. Again the court ruled it out, and defense rested at 3:25. Because of the lateness of the hour the arguments and charge of the jury were not held until today. Sometime today the verdict will likely be returned.

Bergdoll Says He Made Two Trips To Philadelphia

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, America's No. 1 World War draft dodger, electrified his courtmartial today with the calm declaration that twice before his return from Germany to stand trial last May—twice before he made his way back to his Philadelphia home by way of Canada, each time returning unmolested to his German hide-out.

Bergdoll said his first return to shores then unfriendly to him was motivated by the desire to obtain a gold cache of $160,000. During his visit, he said, the gold was removed from a secret hiding place in his Philadelphia home and deposited with a Philadelphia banking firm.

Even this sensational disclosure was partially overshadowed by the promise of his counsel, a promise not borne out in Bergdoll's initial testimony, to show that the former playboy of Philadelphia was in the United States—no Germany—for five years following his escape in 1920.

Bergdoll's revelation of his hitherto unknown visits to the United States was made before 13 grave-faced army officers comprising his judges at Governor's Island. In turn, his story came as a climax to the dramatic recital by Eugene Stecher, Bergdoll's former chauffeur of how Bergdoll eluded his military guards in 1920 and sought sanctuary abroad.

Youngstown Causes Pollution Of Water In Beaver Valley

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—An inquiry into the quality of water furnished customers by the Beaver Valley Water Company has been terminated. The Public Utility commission announced today.

The commission said prevention of stream pollution, major cause of complaint, was beyond its jurisdiction "and the remedy must be sought through the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the state of Ohio."

The PUC said the water company had complied with a commission order of Nov. 16, 1938 to make certain improvements to its system but the company's customers must suffer until pollution in the Youngstown, O., area is corrected.

Popularity Of Young People's Chorus Is Growing By Leaps And Bounds

So many requests for another concert by the Young People's Chorus of the ward have come in that practices have been started by this popular organization. The group is holding practice sessions each Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church. Miss Violet Shuler is director of the chorus, and she is in charge of all arrangements for the concerts.

Fly To Hunting
Camp In Airplane

Something new in transportation will be tried during this coming season by residents of the Seventh Ward. They plan to fly by airplane to their hunting camp, thus saving a great deal of time.

George Horchler, Jr., East Cherry street, and John Wagner, Lafayette street, made a trial flight to Camp Syling, near Newmansville, on Monday, to determine whether or not it would be possible to make such flights. The trip was reportedly made in 50 minutes.

Athenia Survivors

Elderly California Couple Tell
Airport Reporters Of Their Harrowing Experience

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—Next time Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dow, survivors of the Athenia torpedoed, go traveling they will confine their activities to the United States.

That was the declared opinion of the gray-haired Californian who stepped off an airplane at the county airport here and related how he had had to swim for two hours before being picked up by a relief ship, the Southern Cross. To show for his experience he had a rusty watch. Examining its works, he said:

"I guess it's lucky we're both still ticking."

Elderly Mrs. Maude Dow told of her memories of the sickening thud of the torpedo and the screams of panic-stricken passengers aboard the Athenia.

She related how her husband had placed her in a lifeboat and then, buoyed up by a life preserver, had himself remained in the water for two hours before being rescued. Most horrible thing of the experience, she said, was seeing one of the lifeboats bearing survivors, some injured and some dying, swept into the backwash of one of the rescue ships and smashed to bits like matchwood.

Dow said he himself saw no torpedo fired at the Athenia and was fairly certain that none were aimed at the lifeboats.

Robot Vote-Counter

Goes Haywire, Makes

Error In Tabulation

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—It was a mechanical and not a human error which upset early vote count in the recent primaries on the Democratic ticket in Allegheny county, officials declared here.

Because of the defective machine,

it was reported, Commissioner John

J. Kane, renominated to succeed himself, was given 11,000 fewer votes

than he should have received.

Corrected results gave Kane 121,

270 votes; George Rankin, Jr., also renominated to succeed himself,

120,629; John Heinz, 54,459, and

David B. Roberts, 32,662 votes.

A bent trip arm on the voting machine was said to have caused the error in earlier tabulations.

BIG DECREASE IN TAXI,

TRUCK, BUS ACCIDENTS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—Taxi-cab, truck and bus operators reported 254 fewer accidents to the Public Utility Commission in July 1939 than in July 1938. The total number reported last July was 375 as compared to 629 in July 1938. Twelve persons were killed and 158 injured.

Although the number of accidents decreased last July an increase of nine dead and 29 injured over the corresponding month in 1938 was reported. Total amount of Relief Project Is Headache To Board

Pittsburgh Board Of Education
Has Trouble With "Work-
Or-Starve" Type Program

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—Pittsburgh's board of education which has already inaugurated one project under Gov. Arthur H. James' work-or-starve relief program, today was flatly pessimistic as to the future use of this type program on other projects.

The body as a whole voted to reject an appeal from Governor James to make full use of this type relief program. Members declared that under provisions of the Pierson work-or-starve program no skilled workers can be put to work, injury insurance runs too high and building trades union threatened to call strikes if non-union men were allowed to do union work.

It was also pointed out that it is practically impossible to carry out a project without using some skilled workers. In addition, C. L. Woolridge, building superintendent, said that injuries on projects not calling for skilled workers would probably be greater than on regular projects.

Liberty Grange

Liberty Grange is inviting all those who are interested to attend the booster meeting in their hall on Friday evening, Sept. 29. It will be an open meeting and the following program will be presented:

Pep singing, led by Reed McCullough.

Rec.—Marlyn Forbes.

Music—Men's chorus.

Rec.—Jessie Mae McCracken.

Jokes—Wilda Emery.

Guest speaker—Audley Boak.

Music—McCracken family.

Liberty Grange held their annual "go to church" services at their hall on Sunday evening, Sept. 24, with Rev. Chapin, pastor of the Oak Grove U. P. church, in charge. The text of his sermon was the parable of the sower, which was quite well presented to a full house. The men's chorus had charge of the music. Many beautiful bouquets of flowers were used in decoration in honor of the memory of Frances Willard, whose birthday is Sept. 28.

No Changes In Starting Lineup

New Castle To Start Same Team That Has Started First Two Games, Thursday Night

TEMENSKI IS BACK ON SQUAD

"There will not be any changes in the New Castle Red Hurricane starting lineup Thursday night at Beaver Falls," said Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh today.

None of the reserves have shown Bridenbaugh enough this week to dislodge any of his starting eleven that commenced the Butler and Youngstown East games. Any time that any of the youngsters on the second and third teams show enough stuff they will get a starting chance, this much was intimated by Mister Bridenbaugh.

Temenski Reports
Joe Temenski, a holdover from last year, has reported back to the squad after being laid low by a car-buncle. He did not make the trip to camp. If Temenski gets in shape he may be on the first team, it was strongly hinted.

New Castle is still working hard on the pass defense phase of the game. In the Youngstown East game the locals did look a little better than they did against Butler in breaking up forward slings, but still there is room for improvement as the coaches put it.

Will Watch Lauro
Lindy Lauro is still the man of the hour in the backfield. Beaver Falls scouts who saw Lindy perform against Youngstown East went back home and immediately started to map out a way to stop this behemoth who smashed the strong East high line to shreds and who passes with the agility of a Benny Friedman. There is little question that Lauro's presence in the game last Friday was the margin of victory for New Castle.

Meantime, Coach Frank Walton is working his Beaver Falls Tigers hard every day in the valley and secretly hopes that this will be the Tigers' year. Last year the Beaver Falls dropped to the "Canes" 6 to 0 after a tough battle.

The game tomorrow night at Reeves stadium will start at 8 o'clock.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Announcement was made today that the new Industrial Ten-pin league will meet at 9 p.m. Thursday at McCoy's for the purpose of naming officers and arrange the 1940 bowling season. The teams requested to be represented are the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Penn Power line shop, Union Brewery, Metropolitan Life, New Castle News, West Pittsburgh and City Civics.

The Big Six in baseball today are: DiMaggio, Yanks, 378; Fox, Red Sox, 358; Mize, Cards, 355; Johnson, Athletics, 342; Medwick, Cards, 336 and McCormick, Reds, 329.

The second game of the twin bill between the Reds and the Cards was not broadcast yesterday because officials of the major league clubs withdrew their permission. The first game was broadcast.

Nat Moll, of Midland, informs the writer he has been named boxing agent in this district for the original New York Celtics. Moll was a former deputy of the state boxing commission and has visited here several times. Red Ruffing may be the starting hurler for the New York Yankees in the first game of the world series.

Flushed with victory over Melio Bettina, Billy Conn, light heavyweight champion of Pittsburgh, looks forward to the second defense of his crown against Gus Lesnevich, of Nulley, N. J., in New York on November 17. Conn drew $21,794.42 for his share of the Bettina fight receipts. It was his largest purse. Eighteen thousand four hundred and twenty-two fans saw the fight.

Jim Dunn writes from Los Angeles today he is handling, whom he claims, is the best lightweight in the game today—Jackie Wilson. He reports Harold Detman, middleweight who fought here, has been a consistent winner on the Pacific coast and has returned to Cleveland for a visit. Dunn forwards his regards to New Castle fight fans.

Whizzer White, American athletic star, who has been studying at Oxford, is reported enroute from England to the U. S. He will be welcomed by the Pittsburgh Pirates pro gridiron team if he elects to return to football. According to reports the number of bowling leagues has increased in New Castle.

Sports World Ramblings

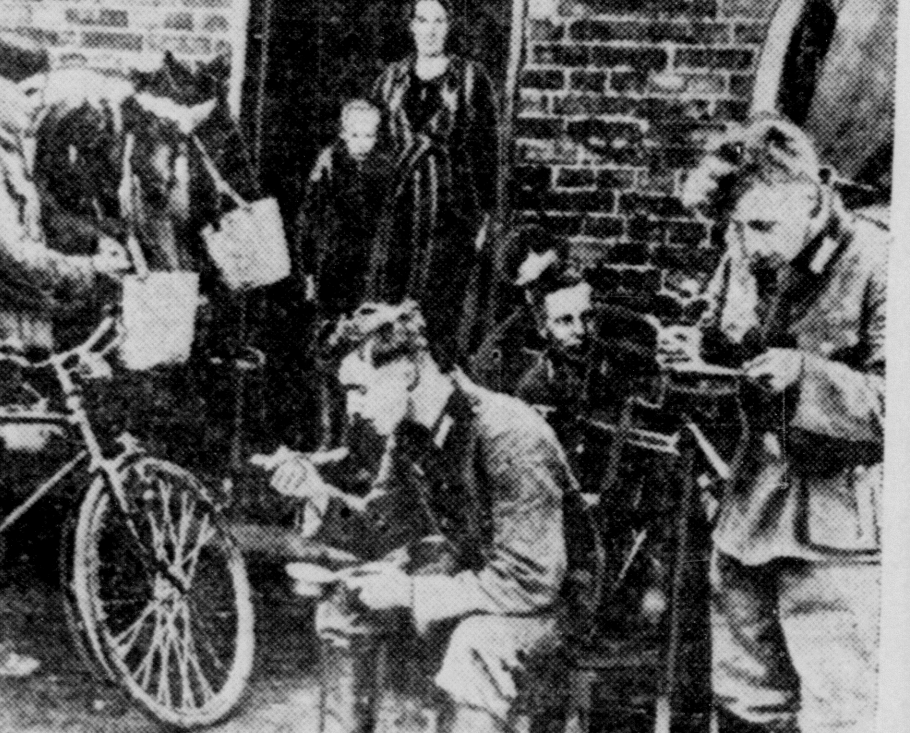

Local shorts:—Jimmy Copple, Clyde Lennox and Eddie Gennock are among the spectators witnessing the crucial Cincinnati-St. Louis series. . . . More than 15,000 fans have witnessed New Castle high's first two home games. . . . Eddie So-winski, The Canes' back who suffered a broken leg during last Friday's clash, is improving. . . . To fans who have written in regarding two collegiate football results of last Saturday: Hardin-Simons defeated Centenary 7-6 and College of the Pacific won over South Dakota, 6-0. . . .

Louis-Conn:—As the 17,000 spectators filed out of Forbes field following the Conn-Bettina scrap, quite a few fans were comparing the Pittsburgh pretty boy and Joe Louis. Several persons even went so far as to predict a Conn triumph should he face the Brown Destroyer now. For six rounds, Conn did a fancy piece of catching. What would Conn look like if Louis had been dishing out the leather instead of Bettina? Conn is a nice chap, will always be a nice chap, is getting along very well and will continue to do so—provided he stays away from Dynamite Joe Louis. . . .

Punts and passes:—Beware of Penn State. The Nittany Lions are even tougher than the dopesters predicted, due mainly to an abundance of good reserve material. . . . The collegiate grid season is swinging into its 70th campaign. . . . Since 1900, Pitt University has had 11 undefeated gridiron aggregations. The consensus of opinion is that the Sutherland-less team will have a 12th—but not this season. . . .

Diamond Dust:—Jack Doyle, the betting commish of New York, has established the Yanks as a 3-1 favorite to tuck in the blue ribbon diamond. . . . Contrary to all reports, Frankie Frisch will grab Pie Traynor's job and Lefty O'Doul will wear Gabby Hartnett's uniform in '40. . . . Vincent DiMaggio finally cracked the ice. Last Sunday, he got his first major league hit of the season, a double. To date, he has fanned five times, walked one and hit safely once. . . .

Reds Need But One More Win

Defeat St. Louis Cards In First Game Of Twin Bill, Then Lose Night-Cap

VICTORY TODAY WILL PUT REDS IN

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Like War-saw's defenders, the Cardinals are still in there swinging but their case is just about as hopeless.

The Reds virtually clinched their first pennant in 20 years yesterday when they took the first half of a doubleheader from the Cards. The Cards rallied gamely to take the nightcap but were left 3½ games to the bad with only five games to play.

Need One Game
The Reds and Cards clash again today and tomorrow and the former can sew up the pennant by winning either game. Should the Cards win both from the Reds, they would still be a game and a half behind with only three games remaining.

Worse still, from a Cardinal viewpoint, is the fact that they wind up the season with the Cubs, who are fighting hard to regain third place while the Reds are closing out against the Pirates to whom another defeat or two means nothing.

Experts Crossed Up
Everybody expected wise old Bill McKenchie to start his ace, Bucky Walters, against Curt Davis in that first game yesterday but the Scotch sage foiled all hands by calling on rookie Gene Thompson. Then in the second game he wisely elected to gamble with Lee Grissom while resting up Walters and Derringer for the last two games.

Thompson justified McKenchie's faith in him by holding the hard-hitting Cards in check and Billy Myers came through with the wallop that gave the Reds a 3-1 decision.

Allows Four Hits
Mort Cooper held the Reds to four hits in the second game and breezed in 6-0 after the Cards fell on Grissom for four runs in the first inning. Here in the east the Dodgers clung to their exalted third place niche by splitting a doubleheader with the Giants, dropping the first to Hubbell, 9-5, and taking the second behind Hamlin for his 19th victory, 3-2.

The Cubs and Pirates were frozen out but the Phils, behind Higbe, managed to top the Bees, 5-3.

On the American league front the Athletics slaughtered a flock of rookie Senator pitchers to win 15-4 and the Tigers took a pair from the Browns, 5-4 and 7-5, the second being stopped by darkness at the end of the seventh.

FOUR REASONS WHY YANKEES WON PENNANT

Red Rolfe, Frank Crosetti, Joe Gordon and Babe Dahlgren
We might cite this as four reasons why the Yankees won the pennant. It's the infield, left to right, Red Rolfe, third base, Frank Crosetti, shortstop, Joe Gordon, second base, and Babe Dahlgren, first.

Westminster To Open Season On Saturday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 27.—Coach Grover Washbaugh's Westminster Titan gridders open their 1939 season this Saturday, Sept. 30, on West Virginia soil, with the Bethany Bisons as opponents.

Probable starters for Westminster include Bob Washbaugh, New Wilmington, and William Ruefle, Pittsburgh, ends; Dan Mamula, Pittsburgh, and William Dapprich, Mt. Lebanon, tackles; co-captain Dale Youkers, Butler, and Don Riblet, Erie, guards; and Stan Lutton, Buffalo, N. Y., center. In the backfield probable starters are "Caesar" Laposki, New Brighton, quarter; Harry Shoup, Bessemer, fullback; Richard Newton, Ellwood City, and Tony Valcent, Mt. Lebanon, at halfback posts. Bethany has been a hard nut for Westminster to crack, with three years of Bison-victories, 13-6, 22-0 and 6-0. Neither team had an impressive 1938 season. Westminster winning one, tying three, and losing four; and Bethany winning one and losing five.

Three new Titans will play their first hall for the Blue and White: Bob Washbaugh, sophomore end, who prepped last year at Riverside Military academy, Georgia; Bill Dapprich, 250-pound Mt. Lebanon lineman; and Dick Newton, high-scorer last year in the Beaver Valley conference. Jack Faulkner, Avon fullback, may also see action.

One person out of every 45 owns a car in Germany; in the United States, it is one out of every five.

Slovaks Planning To Honor Champs

City Baseball League Champs Will Be Tendered Big Banquet And Get Trophy

The Slovak club members are preparing to honor the 1939 City Baseball League champions at a big affair to be held in the Slovak hall at the corner of South Jefferson street and Charles street.

Just what kind of an affair it will be will be determined at a meeting of the Slovak board of directors headed by Michael "Jake" Babovsky, chairman of the board, on Thursday night at the club at 8 o'clock. It is believed that the baseball champs will be tendered a big banquet that will include over 100 persons. A definite date for the tribute to the baseball kings of New Castle will be positively set Thursday.

The Slovaks at the banquet will get a very lovely trophy cup.

MOTHER WOULD BE FIRST LADY MAYOR

(International News Service)

MARLBORO, Mass.—A 44-year-old mother aspires to be the first woman mayor in Massachusetts. Candidate Mrs. William C. Nielson, a native of France, has thrown her "hat" into the city's political ring with a promise to "wake the folks up around here."

Mother of a teen old son, she has promised, if elected to lower the tax rate and to attract new industries to the one time prosperous shoe manufacturing center.

Local Boxers Gaze Forward

Several Of Them Pine To Reach Heights Attained By Conn

MORAN TO BOX BILLY MURRAY

Not so long ago Billy Conn, light-heavyweight champion of the world, was just another boy trying to get along in the fistic preliminary world, but today he is enroute to a fortune and several boxers here are going forward dreaming of some day becoming a champion.

There are a number of local boys who have shown promise and among them are Frankie Moran, 126, this city, and Benny Bartle, 165, Ellwood City. Moran will fight Billy Murray, of Cecil, and Bartle will attempt to reverse a knockout when he opposes Milt Taylor, of Pittsburgh, next Monday night at the St. Vitus parish children's Christmas fund show.

Bartle is not the only ex-high school lad on the card. Buck Chambers, of Pittsburgh, who has fought here several times, will take on Jimmy Brooks, of Pittsburgh. Chambers carried books last year. He is rugged, tough and likes to swing it out with foes.

National Champion On Card
One of the sweetest scraps in months should be seen when Smokey Robinson, a mateur lightweight champion of the U. S., takes on Pete Spotti, Cecil, conqueror of Nick Retardo and Regis O'Brien. Robinson had little opposition in his last show. Monday night things will be different.

Another good bout should be witnessed when Sammy Secrete, of Pittsburgh, battles Johnny Como, Erie 147 champion. Como won here recently in a bout which was quite interesting. This should compare in class with the Robinson-Spotti fight.

A bout which will surely be fast will occur when Andy Wertz, of Youngstown, tackles Chuck Arnett, West Pittsburgh, who beat Wertz recently.

Nick Retardo, Ellwood City, will tackle Ray Nulph, of Oil City, at 135 and one of the best lightweight scraps seen recently here should materialize when Nick Volpe, conqueror of Mickle Rubin in two bouts at Farrell, opposes Johnny Fulton, of Pittsburgh.

Of "All Three" Lower Priced Cars THE 1940 PLYMOUTH Is MOST Like the Higher Priced Cars

Across the country there is a rapidly growing tendency to measure the values of different low-priced cars by comparing them with America's higher-priced cars.

Buyers who make these careful comparisons before choosing their new cars are choosing Plymouth. For Plymouth brought to low-priced cars the brilliant engineering, the same precision of manufacture formerly applied only to higher-priced cars.

Plymouth's close resemblance to America's higher-priced cars is largely responsible for its reputation as "the car that stands up best!" And it is a very important reason why Plymouth, alone among low-priced cars, gives you the great Luxury Ride.

- PEACH HARVEST IN, ADAMS COUNTY MEN TURN TO APPLE CROP
- (International News Service)
- GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—With the harvest of nearly 500,000 bushels of peaches nearly finished, Adams county fruitmen turned to picking an apple crop estimated at 1,750,000 bushels, almost a half million bushels below the 1938 yield.

FROM ME TO YOU
 By MESEALL

Thirty some years ago Mark Twain wrote a poem about war... according to history he said it could be printed after he was dead. Here it is again:

LET US PREY
 O Lord our God, help us to tear their soldiers to bloody shreds with our shells; help us to cover their smiling fields with the pale forms of their patriot dead; help us to lay waste their humble homes with a hurricane of fire; help us to wring the hearts of their unoffending widows with unavailing grief; help us to turn them out roofless with their little children to wander unfriended through wastes of their desolated land in rags and hunger and thirst, sport of the sun's flames of summer and the icy winds of winter, broken in spirit, worn with travail, imploring Thee for the refuge of the grave and denied it—for our sakes, who adore Thee, Lord, blast their hopes, blight their lives, protract their bitter pilgrimage, make heavy their steps, water their way with their tears, stain the white snow with the blood of their wounded feet! We ask of One who is the spirit of love and who is the ever-faithful refuge and friend of all that are sore beset, and seek His aid with humble and contrite hearts. Grant our prayer, O Lord, and Thine shall be the praise and honor and glory, now and ever. Amen.

THE dry weather is about over. According to the patter on the rooftop last night quite a few drops were put down. Too bad it didn't come a little sooner... the

Export Gain For Month Of August Is Nine Percent

Month Before Breaking Out Of War U. S. Sells Considerable Stuff Abroad

CRUDE FOODSTUFFS SHOW BIG INCREASE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—United States exports during August—the month before the European war broke out—increased nine per cent over August of last year. Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins announced today.

Such exports as scrap iron, industrial machinery, motor trucks, and aircraft—all important factors in a war—jumped 26 per cent over August, 1938, to a total of $187,321,000.

A total value of United States exports for August was $259,839,000 as compared with $239,629,000 in July and $230,790,000 in August of last year.

Announces Gain
Hopkins also announced a nine per cent gain in imports for the same period of comparison. He explained that American foreign trade usually shows a seasonal gain from July to August, but said the increase in the value of exports this year even exceeded this ordinary rise.

Reporting that shipments of cotton abroad during August showed an increase over August, 1938—the first such increase in more than a year—Hopkins said that export of agricultural products as a whole jumped from $31,219,000 in July to $44,460,000 in August. Total raw cotton exports to Europe advanced to $6,855,000 in August 1938 to $9,285,000 last month.

Crude foodstuffs valued at $8,384,000 were exported last month, an 80 per cent increase over July, while $15,945,000 worth of manufactured foodstuffs shipped abroad this August topped by more than $2,000,000 the amount exported in August, 1938.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

We get word that the ghosts have quit walking in Pepperidge Hall, mansion of the late Christopher Robert at Oakdale, L. I., recently purchased by the Royal Fraternity of Master Metaphysicians. The metaphysicians are squaring away to restore the old splendors of the castle, expanding its 63 rooms to 80, and that naturally means the eviction of any lingering ghosts.

Christopher Robert committed suicide when his actress bride refused to live in his cavernous dream house, and she died seven years later. Weeds choked the courts and fountains, the great vine over the swimming pool died, the wind moaned through broken window panes and even proving small boys began avoiding the place. But now the ghosts are laid, and gone will be the "Forsaken Garden" where "wet waves and spent winds labor, in troubles dreams of dreams."

On January 13, 1938, the metaphysicians purchased the estate of the late W. K. Vanderbilt, on which about $7,000,000 had been spent on house, grounds and furnishings. James B. Schaffer, brisk, affable and enterprising head of the cult, got it for around $350,000. That would seem like a nice deal, but that's just about the current writedown on all the "thrones, powers and dominions" of yesteryear, unless things take a turn for the better.

The Vanderbilt mansion, one of America's most beautiful estates, had been lost in the shuffle in some fast real estate deals, and was once owned by Dutch Schultz, the gangster. The gold room—walls and ceilings covered with gold leaf—had been Mr. Vanderbilt's special pride and it cost him a small fortune. During the Dutch Schultz occupancy it was painted white. The paint has been removed and the gold leaf perfectly restored.

Fountains, swimming pools, tennis courts and the $30,000 rug in the main living room have all been restored, and the completely refurbished mansion is now "Peace Haven," a week-end or permanent residential retreat for the metaphysicians.

If you can qualify as a metaphysician you may get a life membership in the fraternity for $100 and thereafter your rate is only $2 a day at Peace Haven, which is maintained in the manner of a luxurious country hotel. This summer they also maintained on the 80-acre estate a camp for children, mostly poor children.

There are about 10,000 master metaphysicians in greater New York. Somewhat in the manner of Dr. Buchman and the Oxford Group, they believe that world salvation lies in individual moral and intellectual regeneration. While there is no denominational or institutionalized religion at Peace Haven, they explain that their cult is profoundly religious in its invocation of the restorative powers of the spirit of true religion.

"LIDGITTTTATIM" is the inscription over the great fireplace, designed by Karl Bitter. The letters signify, "Lord I Do Give Thee Thanks for the Abundance That Is Mine." Over the desk of the reception clerk is the legend "Peace."

There is no clock on the place. They explain that theirs is the "viewpoint of eternity," not measured by clocks. Their photographic dark room is called "Isis," the third eye, of ancient metaphysical lore.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disgusting spots affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin often result from a temporary disturbance, or merely from incorrect cleansing.

You can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and help your skin by using an ointment whose medication stays in active contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For nearly 45 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritated oil ducts where many surface pimples start, and aids healing. Carefully cleansing the skin with Resinol Soap helps to quicken the pleasing results. Its gently active lather is refreshing and it rinses easily.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any drugstore. For free sample, write Resinol, Dept. 89, Baltimore, Md.

There is a large library and complete facilities for students of metaphysics.

Peace Haven is an interesting blend of business enterprise and mysticism which is possibly unique in America, a blend which finds its clearest manifestation in Mr. Schaffer. A native of North Dakota, he was in the automobile business for ten years, and was a successful automobile promotion sales expert. Previously he had worked in Canadian lumber camps and engaged in many small business enterprises.

He was for a time a Christian Science practitioner, and twenty-five years ago became interested in metaphysics and became one of the country's leading exponents of doctrines tracing back to the Rosicrucians. Like Father Divine—and he does not seem to mind the comparison—he says money is the last thing in the world he has to worry about. It just comes when needed, if you find the true inner light. He is an urbane, well-tailored, big-town citizen, fervent and happy in the belief that "all things will be added unto you" once you find the way of salvation.

His growing following seems to attest the yearning of multitudes of people for something to believe in, at a time when more and more people evidently believe in less and less.
